President Expresses Confidence As Henry Ford Supports Landon

ST. LOUIS CROWD LISTENS TO F.D.R. LAUD VETERANS

Major Address Scheduled in Chicago Stadium
as Tour Climax

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 14—(UP)—President Roosevelt reaffirmed "faith and confidence" today in the ability of the people to meet their problems of national and international security by "the peaceful process of democratic representative government."

"No place," the president said in his dedication of a memorial to World War dead, "could be more fitting to reaffirm that faith and confidence than a monument to those who have died in a gallant effort to save democracy for the world."

BY UNITED PRESS
The following radio political programs are scheduled for today:

9:30 to 10 p. m. E. S. T.—President Roosevelt, speaking from Chicago over NBC red, CBS and mutual networks.

9 to 9:15 p. m.—Senator Millard F. Tydings, D., Maryland, speaking from Washington over NBC blue network.

He observed that while the hand of the "good neighbor" was being extended to break down barriers blocking the way to international accord, there also was a call to service at home.

One of Key Cities
The Missouri city marked one of the "key" spots in a tour through mid-western industrial centers on the eastward swing of a 5,000-mile campaign tour.

"We best honor the memory of those dead by striving for peace, that the terror of the days of war will be with us no more," the president said. "In what we have done to promote national recovery at home to extend the hand of the good neighbor to the nations of the world, to break down the barriers of commerce, which divide nation from nation, we are promoting the cause of peace throughout the world."

"x x x Inequalities in our social order call for correction. A true patriotism urges us to build an even more substantial America where the goods things of life may be shared by more of us—where the social injustices will not be encouraged to flourish. The many different occupations in our economic and social order can be tied closely together for their mutual advantage and for the advantage of America."

Mr. Roosevelt was scheduled to visit the Jefferson memorial, a gigantic PWA project, and leave shortly after noon for his second major campaign address at the stadium in Chicago at 9:30 p. m.

Officials Accused in Death

DISTRICT ATTORNEY James A. Reilly of Uniontown, Pa., left, his assistant, Harry W. Byrne, right, and five others have been charged with murder in the death of Frank C. Monaghan, hotel man, by "third degree" torture. The grand jury indictments, holding the seven responsible for the death of Monaghan or with helping those responsible to escape arrest, thus brought to a close the long investigation into Monaghan's death on Sept. 12. Monaghan died in the Bertillon room of the county courthouse while being questioned in regard to the stabbing of County Detective John C. Wall.

THREE FUGITIVES ESCAPE POSSES IN INDIANA AREA

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 14—(UP)—The Al Brady gang took refuge in secret hideouts today to escape the most intensive pursuit of Indiana law and order authorities since the days of John Dillinger terrorism.

"It's a detective job of ferreting them out of some gangland hangouts now," State Police Capt. Matt Leach said.

Plain clothes men and uniformed officers prowled known gang districts in Indianapolis, Chicago and Louisville prepared to shoot Al Brady, Clarence Lee Schaffer and James Dalhove on sight rather than risk their lives in the gun battles they believed certain to follow capture attempts.

Brady, who boasted he would make the Dillinger gang "look like a bunch of hicks," led Dalhove and Schaffer in a break from the Greenfield, Ind., jail where they were awaiting trial on charges of slaying Indianapolis Police Sergeant Richard Rivers. They have been implicated in a Piqua, O., killing and a series of daring holdups in Indiana and Ohio.

G.O.P. NOMINEE PLEASED AFTER ACT OF MAGNATE

Kansan Challenges Foe to Explain What He Plans
If Elected

ABOARD LONDON CAMPAIGN TRAIN, IN MICHIGAN, Oct. 14—(UP)—The warm endorsement of Henry Ford sped Gov. Alf M. Landon on his crucial presidential campaign through Michigan today after a major speech at Detroit charging the New Deal with dictatorial methods.

It was considered significant that Ford's statement, coming as the nominee campaigned through a huge and vitally important industrial area, laid special emphasis on the position of labor in the campaign.

The Republican nominee earlier appealed to labor at Toledo to avoid mixing in politics, saying that would create the danger of working men becoming "serfs of the state" as in some foreign nations.

In the four states—Illinois, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana—reached on this campaign swing, the presidential contest has been described as extremely close with labor's vote considered, especially in Michigan, an important factor.

Gov. Landon's speech in Detroit, on a night when wintry winds swept the baseball stadium where he spoke, was devoted largely to an appeal for freedom of American initiative and competition in industry and farming and a challenge to the president to say whether he sought to "change our form of government."

COUNTY FINED $50, COSTS AFTER RT. 22 ACCIDENT

A traffic accident on Route 22, four miles west of Circleville Tuesday cost Charles Ebenhack, of Williamsport, $50 and costs and a 30-day suspension of his driving rights. He paid his account with H. O. Eveland, justice of peace.

Ebenhack was driving a Ford truck, owned by John H. Dunlap, of Williamsport, east on the highway. The sheriff's report says Ebenhack was attempting to pass a car and the truck hit an automobile driven by R. W. Schreiber, of Duquesne, Pa. The car was crowded off the highway into a ditch and overturned.

The Chevrolet sedan, being driven west on the highway by Mr. Schreiber, is owned by the Schreiber Chevrolet Co., of Duquesne, Pa.

Harry Saltzer, also of Duquesne, suffered a bruised right shoulder. Damage on the car was estimated at $175.

Schreiber filed the charge against Ebenhack.

PROCESSING TAX READY FOR MAIL TO DISTRIBUTORS

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 14—(UP)—Jobbers and distributors will receive millions of dollars in impounded processing taxes as result of action taken or announced today by several of the world's largest milling companies.

The announcement of General Mills, Inc., that it would return more than $11,000,000 to customers was followed by similar announcements from the Pillsbury Mills and Russell Miller company. Other major milling companies are expected to follow suit.

The taxes, collected under the Agricultural Adjustment act, never were turned into the government because of the Supreme Court decision which invalidated the act.

WOMAN, 63, LOSES $10 TO MAN IN FRAUDULENT ACT

Mrs. Sadie McConaha, 63, Hayward avenue, a blind pensioner, was the victim of a "gyp" game Tuesday losing $10 to a fraudulent coal salesman.

Police were told the man appeared at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Giffin, where Mrs. McConaha resides, and offered to sell several tons of coal for $3. He told Mrs. McConaha, the coal was in the bin of a local home and the special price was offered because gas heat had been installed.

Mrs. McConaha gave the man a $10 bill to pay for the coal and he was to have it changed, then return. He failed to return. The man gave a name the same as that of a local resident. Police checked the case but found the local resident had no connection with the deal.

Mrs. McConaha is Mrs. Giffin's mother. She resided in Athens county before coming to Circleville.

GIANT MUNICIPAL STADIUM SCENE OF GAS BLAST

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14—(UP)—Defective electric wiring which ignited an accumulation of gas in a storage room today was believed by Cleveland city officials and fire departments heads to be responsible for an explosion in which four men were injured at the giant Municipal stadium.

The blast late yesterday destroyed more than 2,000 seats in the lower grand stand section. Huge blocks of concrete were hurled 40 feet into the air and steel girders twisted.

Assistant Safety Director John R. Flynn and Assistant Fire Chief James E. Nimmo termed the explosion accidental. However, police held an employee of the Great Lakes Exposition for questioning in connection with it.

Approximately 200 employees were in the stadium when the explosion occurred.

James A. Cosgriff, 43, a wardrobe man for the Exposition, was injured seriously when blown through the door of a storeroom. Anthony Vaccariello, H. F. Haasfurther and Charles T. Grennell received minor injuries.

Herbert Buckman, stadium manager, said the lighting system had not been damaged and that the football game Friday night between John Carroll and Adrian (Mich.) college would be played as scheduled.

FLOODS SWEEP HOMES TO SEA, 100 MEN DROWN

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 14—(UP)—More than 100 miners were drowned when floods in the Zambales region swept their homes into the sea near Subic bay, the Manila Herald reported today.

The mass drowning was believed to have brought the death toll in Philippines floods and typhoons during the last week to more than 500.

Customs officials reported three dead, six missing and four survivors of the motorship Taliba, which sank off Mindoro yesterday in heavy seas.

Commonwealth officials estimated that 30,000 persons were homeless as the result of inundations which swept through northern provinces of Luzon.

New perils added to the suffering of the flood and typhoon refugees. Cholera and dysentery were reported spreading and vaccines were rushed northward by plane from Manila to prevent epidemics.

LOYALISTS TURN ON INSURGENTS, GAINING VICTORY

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 14—(UP)—Spanish loyalists, who two days ago were retreating on Madrid from west of the capital, fought on the offensive today.

Reports indicated that the insurgents may have extended their long lines too far for safety. The loyalists seemed to have made some gains and jubilantly predicted that the insurgents must abandon all their gains of the last few days or be smashed on the entire west of Madrid front.

Also, loyalists opened an attack in the Toledo area which, if it met with any success, would be carried into Toledo itself.

Ferocious fighting was in progress at Oviedo where for nearly 13 weeks Asturian miners have been besieging an insurgent garrison. A relief column of Moors and Foreign Legionnaires reached the city and was fighting its way in against strong resistance.

There were indications the insurgents had massed most of their air fleet in the Oviedo area for the final phase of the siege.

An Argentine cruiser was expected to sail today from Alicante, on the east coast, for Marseilles. Buenos Aires reported that a number of Latin American diplomats, arrived from Madrid, would board it. It was reported also that families of one or two Madrid leaders might embark.

CHECK MACHINES TO START FLOW OF LARGE SUM

Six Millions to Receive
Money Under New Soil
Conservation Plan

AVERAGE PAYMENT FIXED

Peak of Distribution to be Reached in Winter

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—(UP)—Check writing machines soon will spout out checks to start a flow of cash to 6,000,000 farmers who will be paid $470,000,000 for building and conserving the soil under the 1936 soil conservation program.

Agricultural Adjustment Administration officials, hopeful of having the first checks in the mail within a week, indicated today first payments may be made in the northeast region. Some southern farmers may also receive benefit payments soon.

Peak to Come Later

N. R. Tolley, AAA administrator, said only 3 to 5 per cent of the total of the payments will go out this month. The deluge of the checks will not reach a peak until in December, January and February, he said.

Closely guarded by AAA officials are the estimated totals to be paid each state and the five regions into which the country has been divided for purposes of administering the program.

About a million more farmers, tenants, sharecroppers and landowners will receive checks under the present conservation program, than received funds under the 1935 crop adjustment program outlawed by the Supreme Court in the AAA decision. The average payment will be about $78 compared with the average of $115 received by each farmer who participated in the $585,000,000 distributed in 1935.

Initial payments of 90 per cent will be made to producers in the north central, western and east central regions. Producers in the southern region will receive 5 per cent of the Class 1 payments for shifting soil depleting to soil building crops and 100 per cent of the Class II payments for soil building practices. Producers in the northeast region will receive full payment.

Second About Dec. 1

The second part of the payment will be made as soon as participation and expenses of the county conservation associations have been determined around Dec. 1.

PRIVATE UTILITY ALLOWED TO VIE WITH U. S. WORK

URBANA, Oct. 14—(UP)—The right of a private utility company to compete with a federal electrification project for rural business in Champaign county was established today after Judge P. H. Wieland of Mt. Pleasant dismissed a temporary injunction preventing the Dayton Power and Light Co. from proceeding with construction of transmission lines.

In dissolving the restraining order issued last spring by Common Pleas Judge S. E. Buraker to county commissioners and trustees of Johnson township, where the Dayton utility allegedly began extending its lines without permission of the commissioners, Judge Wieland said:

"If commissioners and township trustees were granted the right to prescribe regulations and restrictions for electric lines, there would be such diversity of regulations by different boards there would be no uniformity whatever in the state of Ohio x x x"

The injunction was granted when it was contended the Rural Electrification administration had the right-of-way to construct its lines in Johnson township. Previously, county commissioners had announced no private utility would be granted permission to construct lines without approval of the board.

VOICE...of the...PEOPLE

GOVERNOR DAVEY

In view of the present Davey campaign this is worth repeating Governor Davey was elected three times Mayor of his home town, a small community where people really get to know each other, and each time by a larger plurality. Evidently, he wasn't such an unworthy person then.

In his third term for mayor, he was elected to congress from the Republican 14th Ohio district, composed of Portage, Summit, Medina and Lorain counties.

It is one of the largest districts in the United States in points of population. He was the first and only non-resident of Akron ever to represent that district in modern political times. Akron with a population of 250,000, has elected all other congressmen. It's obvious that Davey wasn't a bad sort of a person then.

As a congressman, Davey set up new standards of public service. He established the innovation of sending his secretary through the district at stated intervals to find out at first hand what the people needed to get done at Washington. The Federal Government had begun to touch the lives of citizens in various important ways, and many thousands of people had need of assistance in cutting red tape in their dealings with a government so far away. In matters of legislation, Davey completely satisfied his district; so well, in fact, that no opponent ever publicly challenged a vote; but Davey took most pride in the human side of his work, in doing for the people of his district those things they would ordinarily find great difficulty in doing for themselves.

Governor Davey must not have been a terrible person then. He was elected four times, the last time by the largest plurality that had been given to any congressional candidate in any district in Ohio, and when he retired it was of his own accord, not through defeat.

Should Governor Davey be criticized for running our State Government? Should he be criticized for fulfilling his promises to the people of Ohio, then Mr. Editor, Governor Davey is keeping faith with we Ohioans. Governor Davey's promises to our people of Ohio have been kept. Here is what he promised — here is what he has done.

Governor Davey's administration cut normal costs of government $6,000,000 a year, paid off state debt of $750,000 absorbed new costs totalling $30,000,000 a year for old age pensions, poor relief and other added state functions, and has balanced the budget without new taxes.

Ohio's minimum school foundation program is the outstanding piece of school legislation in America. It guarantees every student a standard education. It guarantees the teacher's pay. It pays tuitions where there are no schools and lifts its share of school transportation costs from the local communities.

Governor Davey routed inefficiency and delay in the Industrial Commission. Workmen's compensation hearings are up to date! The day of want and suffering for the family of the injured workman is over.

Governor Davey signed into law the driver's license and driver's responsibility bills, placing in the hands of the Highway Patrol the weapon to rid the roads of reckless, drunken, financially irresponsible drivers. Ohio's roads were kept open in the face of nature's fiercest assault. Ohio marches on with its greatest program of reconditioning, new construction and elimination of grade crossings to end sudden deaths on the highways.

Liquidation of Ohio's closed banks has been speeded up 27 per cent. Pass book values trebled in many instances. . . . millions have been saved the depositors. . . . building and loan investment values increased $20,000,000. . . . certificate values restored.

Pensions to the aged have been raised $10 a month. Aid to the blind, the crippled and dependent children increased. Ohio has joined in the national security program.

To Ohio's sportsmen has been restored $400,000 that was rightfully theirs, and through new laws, they have been made the masters of their own investment. Ohio under Governor Davey, has launched a real conservation program.

Governor Davey has given the farmer the finest, most efficient Department of Agriculture in the state's history. The Highways Department is adding 5,000 miles of farm-to-market roads to its network. The farmer's child has been guaranteed an equal education, and he has been spared the burden of new taxation.

Governor Davey has put smiles on the faces of millions by the countless good things he has done for us. Can we forget him? Can we ever repay him?

AT THE CLIFTONA

"Nine Days a Queen," the Story of Lady Jane Grey, produced by GB and playing Wednesday and Thursday at the Cliftona theatre, has been widely acclaimed as a great picture.

In London, the world premiere was attended by a glittering assemblage, including many direct descendants of famous Tudor families. Among these were the Duke and Duchess of Somerset and their son, Lord Seymour, lineal descendants of two of the central figures represented in the film.

In Hollywood, stars and producers saw it. Irving Thalberg, production genius of MGM, said in Hollywood, stars and producers saw it. Irving Thalberg.

Joan Crawford said it was "one of the most beautiful productions I have ever seen," while Fredric March and his wife, Florence Eldridge, said it was "a truly magnificent picture."

Even Greta Garbo came out of seclusion to attend the Hollywood preview.

Liberty Magazine awarded this outstanding photoplay four stars. Robert Young in "Sworn Enemy" makes up the other half of this double feature program.

Henry Armetta, considered by the movie public as one of the drollest comedians on the screen, received early excellent training with two of the leading stars of his time, Raymond Hitchcock and William Farnum. Henry is now featured in Universal's "Two in a Crowd," which stars Joan Bennett and Joel McCrea at the Grand theatre.

Born in Palermo, Italy, on July 4, 1888, Armetta came to America at the age of 13. His first stage experience was with Raymond

Eddie Nugent, dashing hero of "Prison Shadows," the new Puritan Pictures thrill-melodrama, now playing at the Circle theatre, has Spanish and Irish blood in his veins, to say nothing of a touch of English descent. SMITH COLLEGE GIRLS IN RIOT OVER POLITICS

Two Injured as Fists
Fly in Free-for-All
During Rally

G. O. P. SPEAKERS BOOED

One Lassie Has Tooth Broken;
Other Kicked

PORHAMPTON, Mass., Oct. 14.—(UP)—Officials of exclusive Smith College investigated today a campus political riot in which two girls were injured.

Nearly 400 girls, many from wealthy, socially prominent families, engaged in a free-for-all on the campus last night when rival Republican and Democratic student factions clashed following a street parade.

During the melee, one young woman had a tooth knocked out. Another was kicked in the stomach. College authorities withheld their names.

An elderly woman who joined the fray on the side of the Republican group retired on the verge of collapse.

Witnesses said the riot developed when 150 members of the Smith College Democratic club swung into the parade ahead of the Republican group of 250 which was on its way to a G. O. P. rally.

Start of Fight Denied

But a student, who identified herself only as a member of the Democratic club, denied this. She said the fight was started by the Republicans.

College authorities had warned us, she said, "not to start any trouble as we were the minority organization on the campus."

After the campus riot, in which members of the Republican group charged into their Democratic rivals and tore down banners on which were the president's picture, members of the Democratic faction went to the Republican rally and booed the speakers.

'LEGION' ACTIVE IN CALIFORNIA, POLICE BELIEVE

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—(UP)—Los Angeles police opened an investigation of "Black Legion" activities in southern California today following accidental discovery of an abandoned suitcase containing what were described as robes of the secret organization.

The paraphernalia of the "Legion" was discovered by two radio patrolmen as they were cruising in their automobile through the exclusive Wilshire district near a hotel frequented by motion picture celebrities.

The officers, R. F. McGarry and W. A. Ellenson, found in the suitcase an outfit of robes and messages advising "brothers" of a new meeting place and warning them to come armed.

The evidence was turned over to Police Capt. William Hynes and reported the robes were replicas of those seized in Detroit during the past year.

The robes were of black satin and had a white skull and crossbones over the heart. The black hoods had eyeholes cut through. A suit of clothes with a Los Angeles clothier's label in it was also in the suit case, police said.

Capt. Hynes reported his special investigators had discovered some evidence pointing towards "Black Legion" activities here during the last few months.

DR. DODDS ON MANNERS
OUT of the fullness of the heart the mouth speaketh and manners do indeed reflect the man. It seems fair, accordingly, to judge the characters of men by what they say and the way they behave.
No discerning observer of the passing show can maintain that the comment of President Dodds of Princeton University on the need of an improvement in manners was not without justification.
It is not applicable alone to undergraduates, even though their behavior at athletic contests has often been, as President Dodds says, "a reproach to spectators and participants alike and to the institution to which the offenders boasted allegiance."
Bad manners are undeniably a national weakness. They are manifested not only at collegiate athletic events but also in most sports gatherings and in theatres, when boorish members of the audience boo and hiss the appearance on the screen of the President of the United States and his opponent, both admirable gentlemen who are deserving of respect by reason of the offices which they hold and their personal characters.
"Democracy works only when the participants are able to win or lose with equally good grace," Dr. Dodds said. "The football field and civic life are alike in this." If these conclusions are to be accepted as statements of truth, the deplorable mess of American audiences indeed reflect little credit upon American standards of democracy.

MORE APARTMENTS
THE idea of the "old home" always has loomed larger in fiction than in fact. This was inevitable in a new country where the incentives to "take up and move" have always been strong, and where the European custom of preserving property intact for a single heir has ever widely prevailed.
A cause and effect of this is the American's partiality for apartment house dwelling. And a result of living in rented apartments is increased sense of impermanence.
This heightened preference for living in apartments is the final break with the rural traditions. The last step in urbanization. The nomads of the United States can now change with even less difficulty than the Arab, who has to at least fold up his tent. The apartment house nomad has only to send for a moving van, and not even that if he belongs to that large number sans furniture.

Not so much is being heard about the Townsend planners these days but it is to be assumed they are still planning.

World At A Glance —By— Charles P. Stewart

Whether President Roosevelt is re-elected or Governor Landon wins, the improvement of American agriculture's lot evidently will be one of the chief concerns of the national administration during the ensuing four years.
And for many years thereafter —but the long-term policy will be given form in the course of the next session of congress.
Crop insurance is a very complicated subject.
Presidential advisers are wrestling with it now. Just what sort of a plan finally will be hit on is problematic, and even then something else finally may be adopted.
Soil conservation is another puzzle.
It is easy enough to say that the soil ought to be conserved but how to persuade or coerce all farmers into conserving it is a question over which planners are having plenty of headaches.
ENDING TENANCY
Ending farm tenancy, however, is a mere matter of money. Tenants have got to be financed in such fashion as to enable them to acquire title to their acres. It will take a deal of credit, to be sure; only the government has enough of it. Still, in the end the undertaking will be self-liquidating. The purchasing farmers themselves will foot the bill by degrees.
It will take each of them 30 or 40 years, paying off principal and interest. In the meantime, however, the erstwhile tenantry will have security of tenure and be building up an equity in the land it tills, terminating ultimately in ownership, at least to be bequeathed to its children.

And permanency, leading to ownership, will go far toward guaranteeing soil conservation.
An owner or prospective owner naturally has an interest in keeping his soil fertile; he does not have to be hired or blackjacked into doing so. A tenant's only interest, just as naturally, is to get all he can out of the ground he is renting. What does he care how badly depleted he leaves it on his landlord's hands? after over-cropping and underfertilizing it.
BANKHEAD'S EFFORTS
Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama pre-eminently has been prominent in the campaign to substitute farm ownership for farm tenancy.
The senator is from an area where tenancy is at its worst—the southern region of share-cropping. A share-cropper is a tenant, but a tenant is not necessarily a share-cropper. A tenant who pays his rent regularly is his own boss; a share-cropper is bossed by his landlord — it is charged that he virtually is a peon in many instances.
A rent-paying tenant, for example, can cultivate his individual vegetable garden, keep his individual cow and pigs and hens, set

PRESIDENT'S LIFE ON TRAIN
A BOARD PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S CAMPAIGN SPECIAL—The Pioneer, the private car in which the President is now making his "swing around the circuit," has served him as official traveling residence since he entered the White House.
There is nothing ornate about The Pioneer. Big and roomy, it is built for a maximum of utility and comfort and a minimum of show. It is owned by the Pullman Company and is available to anyone who wants it. But the railroads, knowing Roosevelt's preference for The Pioneer, usually obtain it for him.
Outwardly the car looks like an ordinary Pullman, except that it has a rear platform. When the President uses it, the platform is equipped with a loud speaker fastened to a corner of the roof, while attached to the rail is a metal reading desk to hold papers and microphones.
This desk is government property and is the invention of Colonel Edward Starling, able chief of the White House Secret Service staff. When the train is in motion the desk is covered by an ingenious lid.
Every inch of space of the interior of The Pioneer is put to use. The entrance door opens directly into a small dining-room which can be, and frequently is, converted into a bedroom. The dining-room table seats six people, and there is a built-in buffet holding the silverware, dishes, and linen. Between meals a bowl of flowers or fruit sits on the table.
The Pioneer has no kitchen, and the President orders his food from the menu of the train diner. It is kept warm and served from a tiny pantry built into the rear of the buffet.
SERVANTS
The servants personnel of the car consists only of two men, a porter and a waiter. They are ace Pullman employees, but not always are the same assigned to the car. Invariably they are carefully examined by the Secret Service.
Next to the dining-room are four compartments and two master bedrooms. The President and Mrs. Roosevelt use the bedrooms, while Mrs. James Roosevelt, Jr., wife of their eldest son; White House Secretary Marvin McIntyre; Miss Marguerite LeHand, the President's personal secretary; and several women members of the White House clerical staff occupy the compartments.
The President's valet and Gus Gennrich, his personal guard, also sleep in the car. Dr. Ross McIntire, White House physician who is accompanying him, and Colonel E. M. Watson, military aide, have compartments in a car adjoining The Pioneer.
At the end of the car is a drawing-room with roomy chairs and settees. Here the President spends most of his time, transacting official business, meeting visitors and chatting with local leaders who travel on the train for a distance. The drawing-room leads directly onto the back platform.
Rabbit Maranville fears he is through as a player. Personally, we dislike to see this defeatist attitude in a youngster who has been in the game only twenty-six years.

READ THIS FIRST:
By winning a $500 slogan contest, Alice Carey secured promotion in the advertising agency where she is employed and enlisted the personal interest of John Sayre, young president of the agency, whom she secretly admires. Coming to New York following her parents' death, she has made the friends of Kathleen Crosby and her cousin, Kim Preston. Alice and Sayre began to mix business and pleasure. She sees him frequently and begins to care for him deeply but suspects he is in love with Carol Cushing. Meanwhile Alice entertains Bill Boyd, her old sweetheart, who is visiting New York. Suddenly she finds a better position elsewhere. Alice discusses it with John after he has shown her a bracelet. When she has informed him of her desire to go elsewhere he puts the bracelet in his pocket.
(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)
CHAPTER 20
"IT ISN'T that I want to leave here and yet I do. John"—Alice's voice compelled him to look at her—"Isn't it best for both of us?"
"Perhaps you're right. You usually are." He smiled at her. "When do you go?"
"Not for a week or two. I won't leave any loose ends here. And, of course, I'll always be connected with the agency in a sense because the Warner account will remain here."
So Alice left the Sayre-Coulton agency. Left the daily hours highlighted for her by suddenly catching John Sayre's voice, by hearing his stride in the corridor.
But she still had John Sayre. He wanted to know all about the new job, they discussed "pros" and "cons" of procedure. She set him straight on some things that had been bothering him in his agency. It was just as before but the self-consciousness of their positions had left her.
There was much to be done in her new job. There were nine persons in the organization in New York but Alice was the only one thoroughly familiar with the work being done in New York. So it was Alice who worked early and late.
The first six weeks found them well organized but by that time Alice was worn out. Shadows painted her usually smooth cheeks. She was restless and often cross. She found herself more than once giving a sharp answer and was immediately ashamed.
She did it once to Kim and was doubly sweet to him because she was sorry.
Kim was sitting across from her at dinner. Kim said, "Alice, would you like to go to Mexico?"
"Oh, I'd like to go to Mexico, all right. I'd also like to go to Spain and Algeria and . . ."
"Will you come with me?"
"Shall we set out in a pea-green boat and . . ."
"I'm serious. I'm going to Mexico again. Marry me, Alice."
"Oh!" Alice put down her spoon and gave him a troubled gaze. "I can't, Kim. I'm sorry."
"I know," he looked beyond her. "I know all about you. Alice. I know about that fellow you brought to Kathleen's. Sayre, of course. Are you in love with him?"
"Alice felt her cheeks get warm. "Certainly not!"
He believed her. "Then, don't give me an answer now. Wait a little and think it over."
She could have told him right then that she would never marry him but she thought it kinder not to. Perhaps, he would forget it all in a little time.
"Don't let's talk about it," she pleaded.
"Sorry, Alice, I can't help it. You see I happen to be in love with you. I've been in love with you since the first day I saw you. You're like a dream come true. You bring something into a room that's intangible, lovely. You act more like a business woman than any other girl I've ever known. You talk about 'copy' and 'layouts' and you look like the princess who let down her braid so that her lover might pull himself up to her ivory tower."
Years ago when Bill Boyd told her he loved her, he had said, "You're the princess that makes a fellow feel like a knight who'd go up and shout 'boo!' to a dragon." Alice didn't want to be loved like

"Pretty, isn't it?"
John is beginning to fall in love with me.
Tell the Tribune reporter we will have the information she wants as soon as Kleemann gets back from Grand Rapids. Don't forget to have the photographs delivered before five. Ask the photographer if he hasn't made a mistake about the price? I told him we wouldn't pay more than $15 a shot and he's charged $25.
John is beginning to fall in love with me.
It's your lead, Kathleen. The bid is 4-Spades, isn't it? No hearts, partner. I think we can make it. . . we did! My finesse are unusually unpremeditated. Thank heaven this one worked. I always get credit for them when they are sheer accidents. That's five tricks, isn't it?
John is beginning to fall in love with me.
So cursed the song through her, the paeon that set the cadence in her heart—whatever else may have been in her mind—at work, at play and even in her sleep. She felt into slumber thinking of it and woke with a sense of excitement wrapped in its knowledge.
After John said that nothing had been changed, yet everything was changed. She saw and heard and breathed with a sharp, new sensitivity, a quickening for everything about her. She felt peaceful waiting for him to say more.
More that she was not to hear. She was alone for a few moments leaving her wraps in his bedroom on a Sunday afternoon when he had invited guests for cocktails and supper.
She was powdering her nose when Carol Cushing came into the room. She saw her in the mirror. Then she saw the bright, gleaming bracelet on her arm.
Feeling that she was turned to ice inside, Alice turned and her fascinated eyes fastened on the bracelet on Carol's arm. It was the bracelet she had seen in John's office.
Carol saw that sick stare, lifted the arm that wore the flashing bracelet, and said, "Pretty, isn't it?"
Then she looked at Alice with an expression that implied confidence. "John gave it to me. I told him I'd rather have it than a ring."
"Lovely," Alice said through lips that ached as she moved them and she wondered if the word came out.

DIET AND HEALTH

"Skinny" Reader Requests Weight Treatment
By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
A READER writes:
"I should like to offer a suggestion. I belong to the thin—yes, actually SKINNY, type of human, and one finds very little in the way of advice or hints to put on weight; it seems that the population is trying valiantly to take it off. However, when I look around me, I see many women and girls who would benefit greatly, I believe, by the addition of from five to 15 pounds, and still not be classified as fat. So I would ask that you give us skinny folk a break.
"I would suggest that you devote your column some day, or for several days, to the thin people, the various types and builds, and give a diet and exercises for gaining. Some months ago, I recall, you had a series of articles for reducing, which proved to be of interest to a number of people, and which were considered very successful."
The first thing for the abnormally thin person to do is to be sure there is no underlying cause, such as tuberculosis or diabetes, in the condition. This is easily done by a very simple routine examination that any physician is capable of making.
Most constitutionally thin people know already that no such underlying organic condition is present. There are plenty of these people who are just naturally thin, with no particular reason that can be pointed out as the one cause. They come from thin ancestors, their whole body is the long type, rather than the broad type, the stomach and intestines are low, and assimilation of food more or less poor.
Avoid Fatigue
Treatment should be a way of life, adopted for life—not just considered as a short spurt. They have to consider that particular bodily build always. The important thing is not so much to put on weight as to avoid fatigue.

Along this line of fatigue my correspondent tells a familiar story:
"However, my problem, I fear, will be a difficult one, for I am employed in a position that requires a great deal of energy and exacting concentration, with little time for recreation. I have few holidays, not more than six or eight Saturday half-holidays during the year, and sometimes work on Sunday and at night."
That, of course, constitutes a difficult problem for treatment. But it is usual to find these thin people who have great intelligence and ambition, undertaking work that is far beyond their real strength. They need rest periods every little while all day, especially in the afternoon, because in the upright position the stomach sags, and when full causes discomfort and finds difficulty in emptying. While lying down digestion is easier. What exactly this person can do is not easy to answer, but it is not really difficult to find time for rest. At least she could insist on having a couch somewhere in the office so that she could have her rest periods, if only on the basis that it would make her work more efficient.
Exercises may be used for strengthening the abdominal muscles.
If it can be digested without discomfort, a 5,000-calorie diet for a few weeks often starts things in the right direction.
And great success has resulted from the use of insulin and a plentiful diet.
We will discuss these in the week's articles.
EDITOR'S NOTE: Seven pamphlets by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with three-cent postage to Dr. Clendening in care of this paper. Scotch Vogue

DAYTIME dresses, many of them, have succumbed to the Mary of Scotland vogue. They have a touch of Bonnie Scotland somewhere in trimming or style.

This dress worn by Anita Colby, screen actress, is of thin black wool, made coat style and buttoned down the front with self-covered buttons. It has leg o'mutton sleeves and the plaid collar and jabot give the highland touch. The plaid is red, black and gold, with a tiny gold thread running through it.

Black felt fashions the Scottish tam which ties under the chin with felt strips and has a red silk pom-pom perched jauntily atop it.

the game of contract bridge with the high score favor awarded Mrs. Elmer Reger.

A tempting salad course was served at the close of the play. In one week Miss Theima O'Hara will entertain the group.

The social hours of the evening were spent in joining blocks for comfort tops. Each year at Christmas time the class donates five finished comforts to the needy.

Certain that his Tigers can defeat Bexley's varsity if the passing attack of the Columbus team can be bogged down, Coach Jack Landrum has been stressing pass defense in the workouts of his varsity this week.

The Tigers are in splendid condition for the game. All members of the varsity squad are ready to go the full distance.

A new problem came to the fore in the end situation this week when Liston, a sophomore, showed Coach Landrum he expects to do some playing. Heretofore Jackson has held one position with Fickard and Hosler alternating at the other. Liston's development means all the others will have to work in order to start. A change is possible in the backfield with Earl Garner coming fast as a possible replacement for hard-hitting Johnny Noggle.

A long drill took place Tuesday evening with the mentor displeased because several of the boys forgot their assignments. After a workout of an hour, the squad was taken into the dressing room where a chalk-talk was heard. At the end of the "skull" session the boys were taken again to the field and more work done.

Wedebrook To Replace Ohio Kicker

Portsmouth Sophomore to Take Over Job Held by Mike Kabealo

COLUMBUS, Oct. 14—(UP)—Howard Wedebrook, Ohio Sophomore, may oust Mike Kabealo as starting halfback against Northwestern Saturday because of his kicking ability. Wedebrook has been kept out of the lineup because of inability to block properly, but Coach Francis Schmide needed a kicker to replace Charley Gales and was dissatisfied with Kabealo's work against Pittsburgh.

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 14—(UP)—Coach Lynn Waldorf drilled Northwestern stiffly today, concentrating on passing and scoring plays. Hi Bender, rid of a charleyhorse, returned to scrimmage. Waldorf believed Steve Toth and Don Geyer, ace backs, would offer Ohio State plenty of trouble in new power plays.

LAFAYETTE, Ind. Oct. 14—(UP)—Purdue first stringers scrimmaged the freshmen today in an effort to perfect play timing and round out offensive for Chicago Saturday.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 14—(UP)—Michigan regulars scrimmaged the freshmen to perfect new trick, pass and power plays designed for Minnesota. The squad will leave tomorrow for Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 14—(UP)—Minnesota Gophers were pushed hard by Coach Bernie Bierman, who sought to arouse them from the slump they have been in this week. Bierman continued to shift reserves in search for varsity replacements.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 14—(UP)—Illinois drilled stiffly on offense after yesterday's workout on defense for Iowa's fleet Oze Simmons. Coach Bob Zupke used reserves frequently and indicated that Don Bishop, junior, may replace Lowell Spurgeon, regular halfback.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 14—(UP)—Iowa scrimmaged the freshmen, working on both offense and defense. Coach Ossie Solem concentrated on building a defense against Illinois passes, and tutored the line in charging to stop Illinois ball carriers before they get started.

MADISON, WIS., Oct. 14—(UP)—The Wisconsin varsity found little opposition in scrimmaging the freshmen today using Notre Dame plans. Coach Harry Stuhldreher still was dissatisfied with line work, especially tackling.

Girl Survives 6-Floor Fall
TOKYO (UP)—Miss Yasuyo Nagawa, 18, was powdering her nose near an open window on the seventh floor of a department store when her compact slipped from her hand. Clutching to the window at it, she lost her balance and fell to the roof of a one-story house next door. She was only slightly injured.

About This And That In Many Sports

Ohio Still in Light

Although the Pittsburgh game has gone by and Ohio is now out of the unbeaten class among major teams, the Bucks continue to hold the football spotlight — Will the Ohioans defeat Northwestern Saturday, or will the defeat by the Panthers take a lot of sting out of the attack as coached by Francis Schmidt? — The Wildcats are mighty, and worthy foes for any team — If Ohio can turn back Lynn Waldorf's club it has a chance to win a share of the Big Ten title again this year. ***

Gales to Be Ready

Full strength will be available for Schmitty — Gales, big tackle, will be back, but how he can be an improvement over Hamrick and Schoenbaum, who performed in most of the Pitt game, is a question — The big senior was a tower of strength, while the Cleveland sophomore, Schoenbaum, was in nearly every play. ***

Many Top Notchers

Other top notch games of the week-end include Alabama vs. Tennessee, Carnegie Tech vs. Temple, Chicago vs. Purdue, Cincinnati vs. Marshall, Colgate vs. Tulane, Dayton vs. Miami, Duke vs. Georgia Tech, Duquesne vs. Pitt, Harvard vs. Army, Illinois vs. Iowa, Indiana vs. Nebraska, Michigan vs. Minnesota, Notre Dame vs. Wisconsin, Ohio Wesleyan vs. St. Xavier, Pennsylvania vs. Princeton, Rice vs. Georgia, Southern Methodist vs. Vanderbilt, Texas A. and M. vs. T. C. U., U. S. C. vs. Washington State, Yale vs. Navy. ***

Reserve Games Planned

High School Coach Jack Landrum is planning a couple of games for his reserve team later in the season — Some of the boys who will participate in these games have not yet been able to crash into a varsity game; others have had a little experience on the firing line — Just who the mentor will book is not certain.

GILES, DRESSEN MEET THURSDAY TO AIR PLANS

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14—(UP)—One of baseball's biggest off-season questions may be answered here tomorrow when Warren Giles, recently named vice president and general manager of the Cincinnati Reds, is scheduled to confer with Manager "Chuck" Dressen.

Giles was due to arrive here today from Rochester, N. Y., to discuss with President Powell Crosley and other Redleg officials whether the fiery little manager would be retained.

Dressen will come here tomorrow from Nashville where he has been conducting a baseball school for young players.

The conference tomorrow was arranged at Dressen's insistence. There have been reports Dressen would not be retained as the club's active head. Giles, however, declined to intimate whether or not he favored retention.

If Dressen is not given a new contract with the Reds, baseball men were inclined to believe he would be named manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates to replace "Pie" Traynor. He has been named also as a managerial possibility at Brooklyn.

HARTNETT NOT APPLICANT FOR MANAGING JOB

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 — (UP) — Leo (Gabby) Hartnett, Chicago Cubs' catcher, doesn't want to go to Brooklyn even if he is invited to manage the Dodgers' team, he said today.

Hartnett reportedly had been considered a possible successor to Casey Stengel. He was to be traded for Pitcher Van Mungo, reports said. However, he went to Owner P. K. Wrigley and said that he did not want to leave the Cubs, or to manage Brooklyn, either.

Wrigley, pointing out that the Cubs' need for a pitcher was lessened by recent acquisition of Leroy Parmelee from St. Louis, said the Cubs valued Hartnett as a catcher and would keep him if he wanted to stay.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

ABSORBLY SIMPLE

LOOKING backward, problems which we have failed to solve, appear absurdly simple, provided we review all that we should have considered at the time. A deal during a duplicate game the other evening afforded an excellent illustration of failure to solve an easy problem, after due consideration of all facts. My partner, sitting West was the only declarer playing a small slam. The doubler was a very able player and careful doubler. Two important facts to consider in play of the cards.

he led the J of clubs, which North won with the Ace. The lead might be a singleton. North's play did not in the least show that he also held the Q of clubs, which an immediate win by the Ace at lower score almost certainly, could have shown. That was a very important fact for declarer to consider.

The return lead was the 7 of spades. Dummy was in with its Ace. On the two good diamonds declarer discarded his two lowest hearts. Declarer had no intention of taking a heart finesse unless absolutely necessary. Even if he took the finesse he needed dummy's trump to ruff a low heart, unless clubs could be established, which could only be accomplished in case South held at least one more club. There had been absolutely nothing to show which defender held the missing 9 of spades. There were only 35 chances in 100 for clubs to be held 3-3, but the odds against the clubs breaking 4-2, with the 4 in North's hand, were 67% to 32%, or in favor of going for the drop, so declarer should have led the K of clubs. As both opponents had to follow suit, then he should have led the 10 of clubs, and ruffed when the Q appeared. If South showed out, the Q of clubs could have been given to the doubler, if South failed to ruff. Anything which North led back would have held declarer's going down to a single trick.

As declarer played the hand he led a heart from dummy. Went up with his Ace. Led his last club, finessed the 10 and lost to the Q, still having to lose a heart trick.

PUMPKIN SHOW DIRECTORS SAY ALL DEPARTMENTS READY FOR OPENING

PARRETT SAYS SALE OF SPACE REACHES $3,000

More Applications Listed Than Anytime in History of Annual Celebration

E. E. WOLF IS CONFIDENT

Krinn Completes Free Acts; Bands are Listed

Every department, with the exception of that controlled by the temperamental Jupiter Pluvius, is all set for the 33rd annual Pumpkin Show expected to surpass all previous festivals.

Brief department reports were heard Tuesday night by show officials at the annual booster meeting staged by the Chamber of Commerce in Hanley's tearoom. Sixty-five persons attended the meeting.

Practically every department of the show has been enlarged, premiums have been increased, new entertainment features added, and space sales are surpassing previous records.

Mack Parrett, Jr., society secretary, reported space sales at the present time approximate $3,000. There have been more applications for concessions than in any previous year. Many had to be turned down because of the lack of space and duplications. He reported everything in readiness except the weather.

Horse Show First
"We expect to present the finest horse show ever seen in Cincinnati," E. E. Wolf, director of the horse division told those at the meeting. Approximately 40 saddle horses from all parts of Ohio will be shown Thursday and Friday nights. The draft horse division will be exhibited and judged Friday afternoon. Both horse shows will be held in the ball park of the Southern Ohio Electric Co.

Robert Colville, treasurer and advertising manager for the show, reviewed the work in his department in preparation for the event. The festival has been advertised at all homecomings in this district.

T. D. Krinn, director of amusements, gave a brief history of the Pumpkin Show. It was started 34 years ago by George Haswell, assisted by F. L. Fickardt and the first celebration consisted of a small agricultural display on W. Main street. Only seven or eight stores were decorated for the affair. The third year a merry-go-round was operated at the corner of Main and Scioto streets. No show was held in 1918 because of the World War.

Profits, Losses Also.
The show has grown by leaps and bounds, Mr. Krinn explained. In some years the society has made a profit and carried over for future shows. In other years there have been losses.

Both high school bands, the Adelphi K. of P. band and the American Legion drum corps will furnish music for the festival. Four outstanding free acts have been obtained. They are Bee Kyle, sensational high diver; Conley's pony, dog and monkey show; the Conley Trio, a group of acrobats performing on two swaying poles, and A. E. Seldon, the stratosphere man performing on a swaying pole.

George D. McDowell, director of the Junior fair, introduced chairmen of the various departments. Mayor W. J. Graham, president of the Pumpkin Show society, thanked the Chamber of Commerce for the booster meeting and announced all features of the show were in readiness.

W. E. Wallace, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was chairman of the meeting. Mr. Wallace paid a tribute to the late G. I. Nickerson, show director. In a brief statement "Mr. Nickerson was one of the mainstays of both Cincinnati and the annual Pumpkin Show."

Meet November 10

The next regular meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be held Tuesday, Nov. 10.
